Free Personal Safety Training at Prodigy Training Center

SPRINGBORO, OH- The brutal rape and murder of Chelsea King, the 17 year old, straight-A student from San Diego, California has caused many parents to think about the safety of their children. One such parent is Craig Charles, one of the owners of Prodigy Training Center. Prodigy is an athletic training and fitness facility where self defense is part of the curriculum. "I have three precious daughters, and it grieves my heart to think about what that girl endured, and the family that she left behind." "I want to do what I can to help people prepare for an attack situation. We teach Krav Maga, the best practical self defense system in the world, and want to offer a free seminar to anyone who has an interest."

Knowing how to defend yourself in a threatening situation can mean the difference between life and death. It has been reported that Chelsea's attacker, John Gardner III, was a convicted sex offender who has been linked to another incident in the same community park back in December. The attack in December ended differently because the victim was able to fight back and get away.

On Saturday, March 20th from 11 a.m. until 2 p.m. free personal safety classes will be offered to the community at Prodigy Training Center. Men, women and children are invited to participate. Prodigy is located at 235 S. Pioneer Blvd., Springboro, OH. Please call 937-550-0051 for more information or log onto www.prodigyteams.com.
